

Hello AWA friends and family,

How's it going with you? I hope this Mission Project Update finds you in good health and praising God for what He's done in your life. I'm sitting on my couch with my laptop and my oldest son, Caleb, typing this letter as the rain falls gently on the roof. I remember this time last year when the grass was as crisp as potato chips because of a little drought we experienced. It's good to have the vegetation taken care of today.

Just like God sends the rain to care for the plants, He also sends His blessings on us as we need them to be sustained. The other morning, I was a little discouraged. Our plans to go to Nicaragua had been thwarted once again (the airplane departure date was postponed) and I was praying for some encouragement. Just then, the text from Matthew 6:33 came to mind. It says to "seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you." I was humbled because I knew I had been seeking to work on my own timeline and make things happen and that was taking my focus away from seeking first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. Sometimes we can be so wrapped up in doing good things that we forget eternal things and miss God-given opportunities that are right in our path. As I was contemplating this, I was reminded of Jesus' rebuke to Martha as she served guests and asked Jesus to chastise Mary for not helping her. Jesus said, "Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things."

Sometimes we can become so concerned with fulfilling our plans that we lose all focus on what God is trying to tell us in regard to His plans.

In these days of uncertainty when even a trip to the store for toilet paper can be derailed by a product shortage, take time to listen to the “still small voice.” See what God is saying to you. Do the work that is nearest you, and may God bless you with His mighty Spirit.

Recently our family was blessed to spend time at a few different churches. We were able to share our plans to go and serve in the mission field. It’s great meeting new folks and presenting the call that God has placed on our hearts.

Please keep our family in prayer as we strive to be like our Savior and reveal Him to the people around us and soon to the people of Nicaragua.

God bless you!

Josh, Yosiday, Caleb and Isaac Fix
