

Fires Fuel Opportunities to Serve

Wow, what an inferno life is right now with the physical and spiritual environment of the world!

That's not to say that it's just a spiritual fire many are experiencing right now, but many have been battling the effects of real physical fires too.

Thinking of our old home in Oregon and how the state has experienced so much fire, we lift all those in prayer who have been affected. Lives have been changed, sadly some have been lost. Through the devastation lives have been touched with God's love as the fires brought opportunities for God to work.

When fires destroyed dwellings the Oregon Gladstone Conference opened up the campgrounds (used for camp meeting) to those displaced from the fires. They gave hope to the community and even served the people with food, comfort, and the love of Jesus.

Disaster and hard times can bring about amazing opportunities to share Jesus' love. Sometimes we unwittingly create disaster by not carefully watching the underbrush in our lives and managing it to keep it tidy. There may be responsibilities we decide we don't have time for which can burst into an inferno when ignored for too long.

Kyle knows well the importance of careful attention to details. In unexpected ways, he shares the love and character of Jesus in caring for the aircraft that serve so many. He cares for the planes in our flight school partnership at Chris Adams Flight Academy (CAFA). If AWA planes aren't kept in proper working order, there is potential for trouble for those flying. Kyle tends to our aircraft here at HQ to maintain fleet integrity so that, when needed, we can fly successful angel flights.

Recently we have been blessed to complete two flights to help out people with needs that could not be met through ground travel. A tiny boy and his grandma needed to fly from Wisconsin to North Carolina. Walter has stage 4 neuroblastoma cancer. He needed to travel to Charlotte for treatment. We also helped an elderly man travel from another state to come here to North Carolina to live with his daughter. We praise God that we could help out with both flights.

God's Kingdom is our heading - and together with you, we can finish the work as we join forces to fight spiritual fires. Let's put our resources, talents and time together and finish the work hand in hand! Your prayers and financial support are vitally important. It makes it possible to ensure the safety of AWA planes and the ability to perform invaluable angel flights.

Thank you for your generosity!

Until next month!
