

Arriving in Alaska

We are in Alaska! As I write this mission report, we drive back to Anchorage from Fairbanks. Tomorrow we are finally flying to Dillingham after putting our car and trailer on a barge. We came to Fairbanks because Josh came to do a mission flight with Jim Kincaid. Some church members needed a ride to Shungnak, a village off the road system, in the northwestern part of the state, to set up a satellite internet system so the Adventist radio station could start broadcasting again. The radio hasn't been working for around 4 years, so we were happy to be part of getting it running again. Josh said that as they flew, you could see miles and miles of nothing but wilderness, a small village, or a cabin. The best way to get to many of these villages is by flying because there are no roads, but many have runways to land.

We have been in the state of Alaska for almost two weeks. We got here right on time for the South Central Camp Meeting. What a blessing it was. The messages were powerful, and we were happy to make new friends.

Our trip up here was a blessing, too. I felt the prayers of our prayer warriors as we had a safe trip and could see God's protection and providence throughout our trip. We thank God for all the kind friends who graciously opened their homes for us to stay at and made us feel comfortable, even some we had never met before! How beautiful it is to have a church family!

The scenery has been unique and beautiful! We got to try new varieties of yummy berries we had never tried before. We've seen many wild animals, including a few bears! The first one we saw almost ran into us. It just came out of the woods and ran towards our car. Josh had to get into the other lane to avoid hitting it. Thankfully, it got scared by the horn, or should I say our screaming, and ran back to the woods.

We are excited to finally move into our new home and settle down. My mom and sister will arrive at the end of the month, Lord willing. They had to have some dental work done before they came.

We appreciate all your prayers and support! May the Lord bless you all!

"And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to which you also are called in one body, and be thankful. Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. And everything, whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him." - Colossians 3:15-17
