

It's Just You And Me Lord

Psalm 16:8 reads: "I have set the Lord always before me; because He is at my right hand, I shall not be moved."

This verse shows the importance of placing God at the center of our lives and the stability and strength that come from God's presence. These words comfort me in times of distress and remind me that He is near and guiding me. Over the last seven years, I have struggled with a theme for a story for each newsletter. One that will inspire you and that you can relate to and enjoy. Sometimes the thoughts come to me in the middle of the night or while sitting in church listening to someone else's words of inspiration. Rest assured, each story in the newsletter or Airways is true. I love sharing my travels and news on each project. Each time I write, my primary focus has always been appealing for prayers and support for the many broken-hearted lives of people I have met and have yet to meet.

Finding the Right Team

I have prayed for a pilot and missionary/outreach worker for the Northern Ontario Project. I steadfastly believed those prayers would be answered someday.

Well, those prayers have been answered. I am rejoicing that we now have two pilots, Denfield Borland and Josh Enns, to fly supply loads in the Sioux Lookout region and an outreach worker, Fabricio.

Last month, Fabricio settled into living in Sioux Lookout. He has made himself known to the community and will work closely with Mansfield Edwards of the Ontario Conference. The goal is to make continued strides in organizing and distributing food supplies into the communities, delivering the supplies, and meeting with the members and elders.

He recently took his first flight from Dryden to Sioux Lookout and the surrounding area. At the same time, Josh completed a flight to get acquainted with the Cessna 206. What an opportunity to reach those who need compassion and love, serving the First Nations communities.

New Way to Outreach

The June newsletter article I wrote, “All Lives Matter,” was miraculously shared with the Messenger’s Publishing department. They offered to republish it in the Messenger in October/November. Please look for it and share it with your friends and family as an outreach tool as we head into the season of giving. “Lean on, trust in, and be confident in the Lord with all your heart and mind, and do not rely on your own insight or understanding. In all your ways know, recognize, and acknowledge Him, and He will direct and make straight and plain your paths.” Proverbs 3:5-6 Amplified Bible, Classic Edition

New Goals

This past year has been challenging for AWA Canada. A new direction in ground outreach is taking place, and we cannot continue to operate without the valued individuals who take the journey with us. We can always do more with more, trimming here and there to seek a balance and continue to strengthen resources for humanitarian work. My contribution is continuing in administration, reaching out to you through each call I make and article I write.

Recently, a financial opportunity arose to utilize the Cessna 150 in Oliver, BC. A person reached out to rent the 150 to finalize their commercial rating, and the chance to fly the plane could not be ignored.

Please check out the flyawa.org website for updates on all the projects, not just the Northern Ontario project. Perhaps you would like to support our new mission in Uganda, where great strides are being made towards the foundational work of building churches and helping those with health issues.

Remember, “He is in control. He makes it all happen. I trust Him to direct me on which path to take. It’s just You and me, Lord.”
