

JOY IN SERVING

By Mark Cabural

It's been three weeks since construction of our hangar began. Through the help of our Almighty God, in His perfect timing, our long-awaited construction of the hangar has finally started and is near completion. At my young age, it's beyond measure how thankful I am to be involved in its construction, lending my youthful strength to contribute to this project. As an aircraft mechanic, it is also my joy to see our Pathfinder plane having a hangar to shelter it in times of extreme heat and heavy rainfall, and a safe workplace to keep our aircraft airworthy.

Special thanks to our supportive donors, who are giving their all to support us in the field and keep this project running. We also thank our recruited skilled workers and laborers, specifically Rodel Avenido, Ricardo Cruse, Primo Gulis, Randie Llagas, and Jacob Villanueva, for utilizing their skills and committing to the hangar project. They toil and labor even under the peculiar weather of sunny and rainy days. Still, they continue to find safe ways to keep working.

To Ma'am Christine, our AWA Philippines' longest-serving employee, her insights have made this hangar project efficient. To Pastor David Batista, who continues to empower us to make this project work, thank you so much.

May God continue to bless everyone who is supporting AWA as a whole. Stay tuned for updates on our Philippines project as we close out this year with an early year-end gift and start another year full of hope and new beginnings. To God be all the Glory!
