

TRANSFORMED HEARTS

BY PASTOR AUDICIO JIMÉNEZ – PROJECT MANAGER,
CENTRAL AMERICAN BASE – ADVENTIST WORLD AVIATION

Dear Adventist World Aviation Family,

My name is Audicio Jimenez, and I want to share with you a testimony from our community that reminds us why mission matters — and why your support is changing lives in ways that go far beyond what we can see.

Javier M. once believed he had everything. He was prosperous, respected, financially secure — a man the world would call a winner. Yet behind closed doors, his life was falling apart. Anxiety consumed him. Pride hardened his heart. His family felt more like a responsibility than a blessing, and God felt unnecessary.

Then one sleepless night at 3:00 a.m., overwhelmed and empty, Javier opened a Bible he found beside his bed. His eyes fell on Matthew 11:28: “Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.”

For the first time in his life, Javier did not feel judged — he felt understood. He wept, not out of despair, but out of relief, as if a burden he had carried for decades was finally lifted.

God’s Word began to change him. Romans 12:2 taught him that success without transformation is empty. First Corinthians 13 showed him that he had been managing his family rather than loving them. Scripture revealed the unforgiveness he carried and gently led him toward healing.

Today, Javier’s life is not perfect — but his peace is unshakable. His pride has been replaced with gratitude. His marriage has been restored. His work now has purpose beyond himself. The Bible is no longer an old book to him; it is his daily guide, his refuge, and his source of life.

Why am I sharing this with you?

Because transformed hearts still live in vulnerable communities.

Spiritual renewal must walk hand in hand with practical compassion. Many families in this same community now face food insecurity. Parents worry not only about tomorrow’s problems, but about today’s meals.

That is why Adventist World Aviation has just launched a new farming program—a simple yet powerful initiative designed to provide sustainable food for the community, restore dignity, and support long-term health and stability.

The total cost to fully launch this program is $4,000.

To some, that may seem minor.

To this community, it means nourishment, hope, and consistency.

To families like Javier's, it means living out the gospel in tangible ways.

Your gift — whether large or small — becomes seed in the ground and bread on the table. It becomes another testimony waiting to be told.

If God places it on your heart, I invite you to partner with us. Give the dollar you can. Every contribution matters. Together, we can continue feeding bodies while God transforms hearts.

Thank you for believing in this mission. Thank you for standing with us. And thank you for being part of what God is doing through Adventist World Aviation.

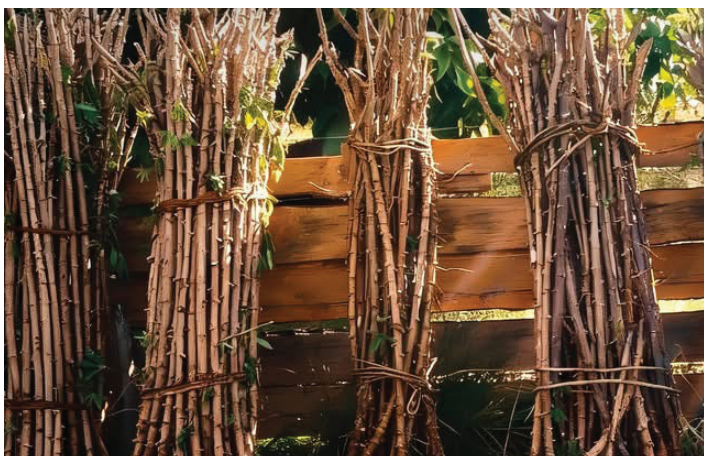

With gratitude and hope,

Audicio Jimenez
